Question 1: Regarding the frame measurements and reinforcements, of these the RBM consists of the Section Modulus, Yield Strength and Resisting Bending Moment (RBM) the higher in number the stronger the frame. For the Mack frame we use a high “Yield Strength” steel of 120KSI, and when combined with our Section Modulus of 13.2 develops a RBM of 1,580.000-in/lbs., I am requesting approval of my frame RBM to comply with the bid specs?

Question 2: I am asking for an exception for section 4.3.12 EXHAUST SYSTEM, the body builder does not need or want a vertical exhaust system. I am requesting an approval of a horizontal exhaust system for this application.

Response: The City is seeking bids for the equipment meeting the specifications as issued. In accordance with the solicitation, no alternatives will be considered.
